

ATHLETICS SPORT FOR AMATEUR AND PROFESSIONAL.

OF INTEREST TO AMATEUR ATHLETES

JAMES IS CHAMPION OF AMATEUR GOLF

TROOPS FOR USE IN AUGUST WAR GAME

National Regatta at Worcester August 8 and 9.

WELCOME TO SCULLER TITUS

Fine Work at Henley.—Y. M. C. A. Will Stay in District League—Light Infantry Team Plays at Atlantic City. Potomac Ready for Another Race.

The thirtieth annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, open to all amateur clubs of the world, will be held August 8 and 9 on Lake Quinsigamond, at Worcester, Mass.

The events will include intermediate, association and championship scull, double scull, intermediate and senior single scull, intermediate and senior pair-oared shells, intermediate, senior and junior international four-oared shells, intermediate and senior eight-oared shells. All races will be one mile and a half, with one turn, except the international "four" and the eight-oared races, which will be a mile and a half straightaway.

Prizes and Trophies. Challenge cup and plate of the association go to winning crews with die gold medals to each winning oarsman or sculler, and a silk banner to his club. Entries close July 25 with Fred R. Fortmeyer, secretary, New York city.

A fare-and-a-third rate, on the certificate plan has been secured for those attending the regatta.

The regatta committee, consists of Messrs. J. P. Fox, Boston; C. W. Prentiss, Philadelphia; R. H. Pelton, J. S. Mahr and F. R. Fortmeyer, all of New York city, and C. R. Zappone, of this city.

The regatta promises to have a very large entry list, as the location is very popular. This city will not be represented neither of the clubs having crews in training for any out-of-town competitors. The Potomacs were represented last year. Baltimore will be represented by crews from the Ariel and Arundel Boat Clubs.

Welcome to Titus. Speaking of the Henley, it is announced that a movement is on foot in New York city among the rowing clubs to give the returning Titus a big "welcome home."

It is likely that a steamer will be chartered to go down the bay to meet the ship bringing him back. Titus is deserving of this recognition, and more.

He had to row three heats to the two of his vanquisher, F. S. Kelley, of Oxford. In one of the two heats won by Kelley before meeting Titus his opponent, Capt. P. Collette, of the London Rowing Club, ran into a boom immediately after the start, giving the Oxonian a practical walkover. Titus had been more or less fatigued by his race with W. W. Field, the acknowledged champion of Oxford, and, notwithstanding this, it drew out handsomely from Field at the end.

Rowed Out Beating Scholes. It is the general opinion among rowing men that Titus killed his chances of winning the diamond sculls in the first heat, in which he met Scholes, his Canadian rival, the winner of intermediate singles at the national 1901. Titus was so anxious to beat Scholes that he exerted himself to the utmost limit, and won the heat in time close to the Henley record.

The friends of Titus believe that he would have given Kelley, of Balliol College, a much better race in the heat on the third day of the regatta but for the terrific strain he underwent in the race with Scholes.

Titus went abroad under discouraging conditions. He had been told that he would have no chance; that he would be beaten by Scholes to a certainty. Many a weaker hearted oarsman would have listened to the verdict to which Titus paid no attention.

He went, and was beaten. It is true, but Titus came far from being disgraced.

Record to Be Proud Of. In fact, he made a record on the Thames second to that of no other American who ever raced there. Ten Eysk, it is true, won the diamond sculls at Henley, but those who are now sounding the praises of Titus say that Ten Eysk did not have men so strong to compete against as did the New Yorker.

Going across the water holding the national time record for his native country at one and one-half miles, he returns home with the honor of having made the second fastest time for the sculls at Henley. This fact was all the more remarkable, for he rowed in a smooth water boat.

Titus intends to try again next year to bring the famous trophy to this side of the Atlantic. He thinks the experience he has gained this year will enable him to win in 1903. He will pay more attention to the development of endurance in future.

It was his inability to repeat three days in succession that practically put him out of the contest.

Gray After Record. The new world record of forty-eight feet two inches for the sixteen-pound shot, made last year by Dennis Morgan, of Ireland, is responsible for the reappearance of George R. Gray, the holder of the American record of forty-seven feet. Gray is now at his home, Coldwater, Ontario, training, and will compete in the weight event this fall. By hard work he has reduced his weight from 250 pounds to 210 pounds, and says that he will be in the best of shape in a few months. He is reported to be putting the shot close to forty-nine feet in practice. It is understood that he will represent the New York A. C. at the A. U. national championships in October.

Athletics at Y. M. C. A. With so many of the members of the Y. M. C. A. out of town, there is little or nothing doing in athletics at Association Park.

Some of the basketball players have received offers to play the game at summer resorts, but they have steadily declined because they don't want to take a chance to have their amateur standing affected. This is right, because no player can afford to suspend himself by playing with teams which of the very nature of things put themselves directly or indirectly on the plane of professionalism.

As the District Basketball League is permanent and does not disband at the end of a season, it will take up its work in October, where it left off in May last, and all of the teams in it have well along in the organization of the schedule next season. This includes the Association team, which in the coming season will make a strong bid for permanent honors.

The bowlers do not mind the weather conditions, and high temperature or not they keep the pin boys busy right along. It has not been definitely decided which of the numerous leagues the Association team will be a member of. This much is true that the team this season will make an effort to again win the championship which it won so handsily in the 1901-1902 season.

Full Games Not Likely. Mr. Beckett is quietly at work on the plan to hold a big inter-city tennis tournament next fall with a number of Baltimore players from various organizations there.

It has not been decided if the athletic department will hold open track and field games this fall. As a rule these meets have been so unprofitable that it is possible this season will be skipped unless games are held jointly with the Friends Select School or with Emerson Institute.

Corcoran Cadet Corps. It has not been learned if the basketball team which the Corcoran Cadet Corps has arranged to play at Atlantic City on August 16, 18, 20, and 21 is the one which plays the regular summer game or not. It is hardly likely that Manager Edwards will run the chance of having his team suspended just for the pleasure of such a series of contests, without knowing something definite about the amateur standing of his competitors. He and his players are at Camp Ordway, and definite information could not be obtained.

The players who will try for places on the team for the series to be played are Shoemaker, Boyle, Zell, Walters, Nash, Bernhardt, and Dowling, and probably Moriarty, if he remains in the corps. A very strong team and a probable winner could be made up from among these players, all of whom have had experience, and who have demonstrated their ability in the various positions.

Light Infantry Athletes. The basketball team representing the Washington Light Infantry will have a ten days' outing at Atlantic City, beginning August 22. A series of five games will be played during that time with the "Atlantians" on one of the big piers. August 23, 25, 27, 28, and 30 are the dates of the games, and as this is considered one of the banner periods of the season at this resort, the team feels highly honored to be selected for that time.

The "Atlantians" will be stronger than last year, and are said to be the picked team of the National League of America. Their line-up will be: Ferrat and Thomas, forwards; Kernand and Middleton, centers; Bossert and Kincaid, guards.

Defeats Byers in Finals by Four Up and Two to Play.

WATER STILL ON LINKS

Large Gallery Sees the Contest Decided on the Glen View Links—Both Players Have Come to the Front Only Recently—The Cards.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Louis N. James, of the Glen View Club, is now the amateur golf champion of the United States. Mr. James defeated Even M. Byers, of the Allegheny Country Club, of Pittsburgh, by 4 up and 2, on the Glen View course, in the final match at thirty-six holes today.

Both Byers and James picked up their golf in this country. Byers had never struck a golf ball when he entered Yale University, four years ago, and never had the services of a professional as teacher. Louis N. James lives in a summer home on this course, and two years ago could not cover the links in better than about 100.

Spurred on by Defeat. He was beaten in a match by his clubmate, "Jack" Sellers, 8 down, and that defeat spurred him on to learn the game. His style is distinctly that of the Western open champion, "Larry" Auchterlone, his teacher.

Early in the year, when the rains made play almost impossible, James began his practice that was expected to fit him for today's contest, making practice shots from before the club perch. Time and again the young man played stiff matches with Auchterlone, and when the Chicago cup tourney was on at Wheaton, James was almost in championship form. He took that prize from a big field.

A Large Gallery. Glen View adherents turned out in large numbers to give Byers and James a big gallery, although heavy skies threatened rain. The last nine holes of the course were still unplayable this morning. Treasurer Heebner and his associates of the United States Golf Association decided that the final round of thirty-six holes should be played as was done. It was considerably after 10 o'clock when the men appeared to make their initial drives.

The cards for the first nine holes: Byers, out, 5 4 4 6 5 3 3 5 4—43 James, out, 6 4 4 5 5 7 3 6 4—43 Byers was 2 up, but on the next nine James played sterling golf and finished the morning round 2 up. The cards for the second nine holes follow: James, in, 5 3 3 4 4 6 3 5 4—39 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

James' Play Strong. James continued his strong play in the afternoon and finished the twenty-seventh hole 3 up. He won the match by 4 up and 2 to play.

The cards for the afternoon round follow: James, out, 5 4 4 4 4 8 3 5 6—44 Byers, out, 4 4 5 4 6 3 5 5 4—44 James, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

Two bye-holes not played coming in.

Make-Up of Team. The Infantry team will be about the same as when it won the championship of last winter's local National League, and will be selected from among the following players: Loftus, Pearson, Devlin, Shreve, Gates, Taylor, and Schwinghammer. The players will take up training at once and prodding by last year's experience they will begin regular hard training as soon as they return from the Guard's camp, and this year they hope to win a majority of the games from the Jersey clubs.

Potomac Boat Club. The members of the Potomac Boat Club are naturally elated over the defeat their eight-oared junior crew administered to the Annapolis last week. The rivalry between the clubs is as strong as it has always been these many years, but the feeling between them is of the most friendly. It is conceded that such contests as the recent one are what are needed to bring the clubs closer together and to develop the sport and bring it back to the standard so proudly maintained on this river so many years.

The meet of last week may be the forerunner of a series of events between the clubs. The Potomacs will be ready at any time to take up the matter of another race.

Hernan's Good Work. Hernan has shown his ability as a stroke upon a number of occasions, but in few of them has he handled himself as well as he did in the race with the Annapolis crew. He is cool at all times and sets a stroke that is easy to follow because of its steadiness. Its effectiveness is shown through the whole crew. Coburn, Mearns, and McGowan are good "sweepers" and their experience in former regattas stands them in good stead. They can always be relied upon to do good, hard work.

Winship, Chase, and Middleton are comparatively new men in the sport, but they learn rapidly and fill their places satisfactorily. Redington promises to be a good man. He is of good build and has former experience in track athletics helps him materially in his new work.

Wilson Young has developed into a coxswain of no mean ability. He brought the boat over the mile course in the race with Annapolis straight as a string and coached his crew like a veteran. He was the roughest man in the boat when the race was won.

Daly and Hecox. Followers of the sport are anxious to see Joe Daly and Hecox in a mile race in singles. Both are clever scullers and a break between them would be of considerable interest.

The amusement committee is arranging a number of features for the pleasure of the members and their friends and it is hoped that one of these will be a formal opening of the new river landing with a basket and "vargo" party.

Defeats Byers in Finals by Four Up and Two to Play.

WATER STILL ON LINKS

Large Gallery Sees the Contest Decided on the Glen View Links—Both Players Have Come to the Front Only Recently—The Cards.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Louis N. James, of the Glen View Club, is now the amateur golf champion of the United States. Mr. James defeated Even M. Byers, of the Allegheny Country Club, of Pittsburgh, by 4 up and 2, on the Glen View course, in the final match at thirty-six holes today.

Both Byers and James picked up their golf in this country. Byers had never struck a golf ball when he entered Yale University, four years ago, and never had the services of a professional as teacher. Louis N. James lives in a summer home on this course, and two years ago could not cover the links in better than about 100.

Spurred on by Defeat. He was beaten in a match by his clubmate, "Jack" Sellers, 8 down, and that defeat spurred him on to learn the game. His style is distinctly that of the Western open champion, "Larry" Auchterlone, his teacher.

Early in the year, when the rains made play almost impossible, James began his practice that was expected to fit him for today's contest, making practice shots from before the club perch. Time and again the young man played stiff matches with Auchterlone, and when the Chicago cup tourney was on at Wheaton, James was almost in championship form. He took that prize from a big field.

A Large Gallery. Glen View adherents turned out in large numbers to give Byers and James a big gallery, although heavy skies threatened rain. The last nine holes of the course were still unplayable this morning. Treasurer Heebner and his associates of the United States Golf Association decided that the final round of thirty-six holes should be played as was done. It was considerably after 10 o'clock when the men appeared to make their initial drives.

The cards for the first nine holes: Byers, out, 5 4 4 6 5 3 3 5 4—43 James, out, 6 4 4 5 5 7 3 6 4—43 Byers was 2 up, but on the next nine James played sterling golf and finished the morning round 2 up. The cards for the second nine holes follow: James, in, 5 3 3 4 4 6 3 5 4—39 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

James' Play Strong. James continued his strong play in the afternoon and finished the twenty-seventh hole 3 up. He won the match by 4 up and 2 to play.

The cards for the afternoon round follow: James, out, 5 4 4 4 4 8 3 5 6—44 Byers, out, 4 4 5 4 6 3 5 5 4—44 James, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

Two bye-holes not played coming in.

Make-Up of Team. The Infantry team will be about the same as when it won the championship of last winter's local National League, and will be selected from among the following players: Loftus, Pearson, Devlin, Shreve, Gates, Taylor, and Schwinghammer. The players will take up training at once and prodding by last year's experience they will begin regular hard training as soon as they return from the Guard's camp, and this year they hope to win a majority of the games from the Jersey clubs.

Potomac Boat Club. The members of the Potomac Boat Club are naturally elated over the defeat their eight-oared junior crew administered to the Annapolis last week. The rivalry between the clubs is as strong as it has always been these many years, but the feeling between them is of the most friendly. It is conceded that such contests as the recent one are what are needed to bring the clubs closer together and to develop the sport and bring it back to the standard so proudly maintained on this river so many years.

The meet of last week may be the forerunner of a series of events between the clubs. The Potomacs will be ready at any time to take up the matter of another race.

Hernan's Good Work. Hernan has shown his ability as a stroke upon a number of occasions, but in few of them has he handled himself as well as he did in the race with the Annapolis crew. He is cool at all times and sets a stroke that is easy to follow because of its steadiness. Its effectiveness is shown through the whole crew. Coburn, Mearns, and McGowan are good "sweepers" and their experience in former regattas stands them in good stead. They can always be relied upon to do good, hard work.

Winship, Chase, and Middleton are comparatively new men in the sport, but they learn rapidly and fill their places satisfactorily. Redington promises to be a good man. He is of good build and has former experience in track athletics helps him materially in his new work.

Wilson Young has developed into a coxswain of no mean ability. He brought the boat over the mile course in the race with Annapolis straight as a string and coached his crew like a veteran. He was the roughest man in the boat when the race was won.

Daly and Hecox. Followers of the sport are anxious to see Joe Daly and Hecox in a mile race in singles. Both are clever scullers and a break between them would be of considerable interest.

The amusement committee is arranging a number of features for the pleasure of the members and their friends and it is hoped that one of these will be a formal opening of the new river landing with a basket and "vargo" party.

Defeats Byers in Finals by Four Up and Two to Play.

WATER STILL ON LINKS

Large Gallery Sees the Contest Decided on the Glen View Links—Both Players Have Come to the Front Only Recently—The Cards.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Louis N. James, of the Glen View Club, is now the amateur golf champion of the United States. Mr. James defeated Even M. Byers, of the Allegheny Country Club, of Pittsburgh, by 4 up and 2, on the Glen View course, in the final match at thirty-six holes today.

Both Byers and James picked up their golf in this country. Byers had never struck a golf ball when he entered Yale University, four years ago, and never had the services of a professional as teacher. Louis N. James lives in a summer home on this course, and two years ago could not cover the links in better than about 100.

Spurred on by Defeat. He was beaten in a match by his clubmate, "Jack" Sellers, 8 down, and that defeat spurred him on to learn the game. His style is distinctly that of the Western open champion, "Larry" Auchterlone, his teacher.

Early in the year, when the rains made play almost impossible, James began his practice that was expected to fit him for today's contest, making practice shots from before the club perch. Time and again the young man played stiff matches with Auchterlone, and when the Chicago cup tourney was on at Wheaton, James was almost in championship form. He took that prize from a big field.

A Large Gallery. Glen View adherents turned out in large numbers to give Byers and James a big gallery, although heavy skies threatened rain. The last nine holes of the course were still unplayable this morning. Treasurer Heebner and his associates of the United States Golf Association decided that the final round of thirty-six holes should be played as was done. It was considerably after 10 o'clock when the men appeared to make their initial drives.

The cards for the first nine holes: Byers, out, 5 4 4 6 5 3 3 5 4—43 James, out, 6 4 4 5 5 7 3 6 4—43 Byers was 2 up, but on the next nine James played sterling golf and finished the morning round 2 up. The cards for the second nine holes follow: James, in, 5 3 3 4 4 6 3 5 4—39 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

James' Play Strong. James continued his strong play in the afternoon and finished the twenty-seventh hole 3 up. He won the match by 4 up and 2 to play.

The cards for the afternoon round follow: James, out, 5 4 4 4 4 8 3 5 6—44 Byers, out, 4 4 5 4 6 3 5 5 4—44 James, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

Two bye-holes not played coming in.

Make-Up of Team. The Infantry team will be about the same as when it won the championship of last winter's local National League, and will be selected from among the following players: Loftus, Pearson, Devlin, Shreve, Gates, Taylor, and Schwinghammer. The players will take up training at once and prodding by last year's experience they will begin regular hard training as soon as they return from the Guard's camp, and this year they hope to win a majority of the games from the Jersey clubs.

Potomac Boat Club. The members of the Potomac Boat Club are naturally elated over the defeat their eight-oared junior crew administered to the Annapolis last week. The rivalry between the clubs is as strong as it has always been these many years, but the feeling between them is of the most friendly. It is conceded that such contests as the recent one are what are needed to bring the clubs closer together and to develop the sport and bring it back to the standard so proudly maintained on this river so many years.

The meet of last week may be the forerunner of a series of events between the clubs. The Potomacs will be ready at any time to take up the matter of another race.

Hernan's Good Work. Hernan has shown his ability as a stroke upon a number of occasions, but in few of them has he handled himself as well as he did in the race with the Annapolis crew. He is cool at all times and sets a stroke that is easy to follow because of its steadiness. Its effectiveness is shown through the whole crew. Coburn, Mearns, and McGowan are good "sweepers" and their experience in former regattas stands them in good stead. They can always be relied upon to do good, hard work.

Winship, Chase, and Middleton are comparatively new men in the sport, but they learn rapidly and fill their places satisfactorily. Redington promises to be a good man. He is of good build and has former experience in track athletics helps him materially in his new work.

Wilson Young has developed into a coxswain of no mean ability. He brought the boat over the mile course in the race with Annapolis straight as a string and coached his crew like a veteran. He was the roughest man in the boat when the race was won.

Daly and Hecox. Followers of the sport are anxious to see Joe Daly and Hecox in a mile race in singles. Both are clever scullers and a break between them would be of considerable interest.

The amusement committee is arranging a number of features for the pleasure of the members and their friends and it is hoped that one of these will be a formal opening of the new river landing with a basket and "vargo" party.

Defeats Byers in Finals by Four Up and Two to Play.

WATER STILL ON LINKS

Large Gallery Sees the Contest Decided on the Glen View Links—Both Players Have Come to the Front Only Recently—The Cards.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Louis N. James, of the Glen View Club, is now the amateur golf champion of the United States. Mr. James defeated Even M. Byers, of the Allegheny Country Club, of Pittsburgh, by 4 up and 2, on the Glen View course, in the final match at thirty-six holes today.

Both Byers and James picked up their golf in this country. Byers had never struck a golf ball when he entered Yale University, four years ago, and never had the services of a professional as teacher. Louis N. James lives in a summer home on this course, and two years ago could not cover the links in better than about 100.

Spurred on by Defeat. He was beaten in a match by his clubmate, "Jack" Sellers, 8 down, and that defeat spurred him on to learn the game. His style is distinctly that of the Western open champion, "Larry" Auchterlone, his teacher.

Early in the year, when the rains made play almost impossible, James began his practice that was expected to fit him for today's contest, making practice shots from before the club perch. Time and again the young man played stiff matches with Auchterlone, and when the Chicago cup tourney was on at Wheaton, James was almost in championship form. He took that prize from a big field.

A Large Gallery. Glen View adherents turned out in large numbers to give Byers and James a big gallery, although heavy skies threatened rain. The last nine holes of the course were still unplayable this morning. Treasurer Heebner and his associates of the United States Golf Association decided that the final round of thirty-six holes should be played as was done. It was considerably after 10 o'clock when the men appeared to make their initial drives.

The cards for the first nine holes: Byers, out, 5 4 4 6 5 3 3 5 4—43 James, out, 6 4 4 5 5 7 3 6 4—43 Byers was 2 up, but on the next nine James played sterling golf and finished the morning round 2 up. The cards for the second nine holes follow: James, in, 5 3 3 4 4 6 3 5 4—39 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

James' Play Strong. James continued his strong play in the afternoon and finished the twenty-seventh hole 3 up. He won the match by 4 up and 2 to play.

The cards for the afternoon round follow: James, out, 5 4 4 4 4 8 3 5 6—44 Byers, out, 4 4 5 4 6 3 5 5 4—44 James, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42 Byers, in, 5 4 5 5 5 4 4 6 4—42

Two bye-holes not played coming in.

Make-Up of Team. The Infantry team will be about the same as when it won the championship of last winter's local National League, and will be selected from among the following players: Loftus, Pearson, Devlin, Shreve, Gates, Taylor, and Schwinghammer. The players will take up training at once and prodding by last year's experience they will begin regular hard training as soon as they return from the Guard's camp, and this year they hope to win a majority of the games from the Jersey clubs.

Potomac Boat Club. The members of the Potomac Boat Club are naturally elated over the defeat their eight-oared junior crew administered to the Annapolis last week. The rivalry between the clubs is as strong as it has always been these many years, but the feeling between them is of the most friendly. It is conceded that such contests as the recent one are what are needed to bring the clubs closer together and to develop the sport and bring it back to the standard so proudly maintained on this river so many years.

The meet of last week may be the forerunner of a series of events between the clubs. The Potomacs will be ready at any time to take up the matter of another race.

Hernan's Good Work. Hernan has shown his ability as a stroke upon a number of occasions, but in few of them has he handled himself as well as he did in the race with the Annapolis crew. He is cool at all times and sets a stroke that is easy to follow because of its steadiness. Its effectiveness is shown through the whole crew. Coburn, Mearns, and McGowan are good "sweepers" and their experience in former regattas stands them in good stead. They can always be relied upon to do good, hard work.

Winship, Chase, and Middleton are comparatively new men in the sport, but they learn rapidly and fill their places satisfactorily. Redington promises to be a good man. He is of good build and has former experience in track athletics helps him materially in his new work.

Wilson Young has developed into a coxswain of no mean ability. He brought the boat over the mile course in the race with Annapolis straight as a string and coached his crew like a veteran. He was the roughest man in the boat when the race was won.

Daly and Hecox. Followers of the sport are anxious to see Joe Daly and Hecox in a mile race in singles. Both are clever scullers and a break between them would be of considerable interest.

The amusement committee is arranging a number of features for the pleasure of the members and their friends and it is hoped that one of these will be a formal opening of the new river landing with a basket and "vargo" party.

CAUGHT AFTER FOUR MONTHS

Negro Charged With Assault With Intent to Kill Arrested by Police.

William Byson, colored, nineteen years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Johnson, of the Ninth precinct, and locked up on a charge of assault with intent to kill upon Jeanette Addison on March 22.

Byson, at the time, eluded the police. A few days afterward he was arrested in Baltimore, it is said, for a misdemeanor, and was committed to the jail in that jurisdiction. After serving his time there he went to Cleveland, Ohio, and about ten days ago returned to Washington.

He stayed here but a day when he secured employment with a brick company between here and Alexandria. Yesterday Detective Johnson, with the assistance of Squire Stevens, of the Alexandria jurisdiction, arrested him and brought him to this city.

ARMY OFFICERS NAMED FOR SPECIAL STUDIES

Schools at Forts Monroe and Totten.

Courses in Artillery and Submarine Defense—Detailed by the Secretary of War.

The Secretary of War has detailed a large number of artillery officers to take the course at the Artillery School at Fort Monroe, and others are named to take the course of instruction in submarine defense at Fort Totten, N. Y.

The following named officers of the Artillery Corps are transferred to the unnamed list from the companies of the Coast Artillery and batteries, Field Artillery, indicated after their respective names, and are detailed to take the course of instruction at the United States Artillery School, Fort Monroe, Va., and will report accordingly to the commandant of the school on August 15, 1902:

First Lieut. Robert H. C. Kelton, from the Seventy-third Company; Winfred B. Carr, from the Twenty-ninth Battery; Henry J. Hatch, from the Forty-sixth Company; James F. Howell, from the Twelfth Battery; John C. Goodfellow, from the Ninth Battery; Ralph P. Brower, from the Eighteenth Battery; John T. Goary, from the Fifty-third Company; Morris M. Mills, from the Eighteenth Company; Charles R. Lloyd, Jr., from the Sixty-fourth Company; Edward Carpenter, aide-de-camp; Oliver L. Spaulding, Jr., from the Twelfth Battery; Conrad H. Lanza, from the Twenty-third Battery; C. Stuart Patterson, Jr., from the Twelfth Company; Harry P. Wilbur, from the Eleventh Battery; Eljah B. Martindale, Jr., from the Eighty-third